

Leave a hand with your baby™

Baby's almost asleep. You lift your hand away—slowly, ever so slightly—and then, "waaagh!" There was a mother and PhD in engineering behind the invention of the Zaky®, an ergonomic, bonding, positioning, and therapeutic infant aid, designed to mimic the touch, scent, warmth and weight of a comforting hand. Weighing about 500 grams, the Zaky was first used at neonatal intensive care units in the Texas Medical Center in Houston and is now available in blue, beige, and pink, and in left- and right-handed models to any new parent needing, ahem, a spare hand.
